

Cancer:

"I am Cancer, a water sign. I create the fourth gate of awareness, through which I teach the meaning of nurturing. I am the devoted caregiver to my family, friends, and projects. I love my home and comfort in all aspects of life. I connect to those around me much like the loyal and caring mother/father. I am sympathetic to the vulnerability of others and I create safe emotional space for what is tender, young, and growing. I am the water point of the cross at Summer Solstice." The sun is in Cancer, generally from June 21- July 22.

Positional Voice: Everyone may need to be family. "Why don't you connect with me" it may say to the other archetypes. "The children come first, this doesn't feel safe, I cry for the wounded." Cancer can either over-caretake others or want others to care take them. Could show up as co-dependent.

Prosperity: Wants prosperity to assist its family, friends, or pets anything in its care.

Business: Want their business environment and those they work with to feel like home and family. They may be a stay at home Mom or Dad. They love to work from home. Those with a lot of Cancer archetypes could be good day care workers, caretakers of pets in all sorts of capacities, cooks where they feed those they love, sell comfortable chairs or beds, or have any job where they nurture something.

New Moon for Business: Notice the ways your business needs to be nurtured. Determine how you can support and encourage your employees, customers, and co-workers. Nurture yourself more in relation to your business success and your ability to magnetize increased economic flow into your business.
